Class Will

We, the class of 1953, in the town of Rector the County of Clay, and the State of Arkansas, being in as good mental condition as usual, do hereby make this, our last will and testament, rendering void and of no avail former will or wills that may have been previously made by us during a period of temporary optimism.

We give and bequeath, freely and without reservations or stipulations, to the Junior Class, our rightful heirs, the following possessions:

Futrell Butler wills his good standing as FFA president and with Mr. Julian to Royall Ozier.

Joan Downing leaves her height to Ava Girtman.

Lois Kirklin wills his artistic ability to Mary Casner. (Hoping you make good use of it, Mary.)

Betty McCord wills her ability as an editor to Martha Deniston.

Jerry Cooper refuses to will anything, he might need it.

Joyce Bain wills her engagement ring to anyone thinking herself big enough to take it from her.

Jim Busby wills his way with the girls to Jerry Tidwell.

Bobbie Morton wills her baton to Joyce Phillips.

Jim Marlar wills his ability to sleep in class to anyone who can get an excuse to go home.

Betty Jenkins wills her love for dancing to Cleatis Edwards. Just don't cut too many rugs.

Jim Stallings wills his place as class president to Wayne Gould.

Esthel Thrasher wills her basketball ability to Leland. We want to keep it in the family.

Bill Carter wills his ability to skip class and get by with it to Robert Lyles.

Don Elliott wills his height to Bert Bracken, so he won't have to climb the TV antenna.

Shirley Layne wills her ability to "swipe the family car" and shag to Shirley Dortch.

Colen Newton wills his bookkeeping ability to Joe Walls.

Lena Faye Mode wills her freckles to Bonnie Adams, since she doesn't have any.

Mozelle Lovelady wills her two stripes on her Basketball Sweater to Bob Milburn.

Peggy Dale wills her ability to get bookkeeping to Jerry Tidwell.

Euvila Cooper wills her ability to sing to Anna Lou Thomas.

Glenda Woodward wills her ability to get along with the Knobel boys to Betty Shannon.

Peggy Little wills her ability to read shorthand to Vera Thornberry.

Dois Kirklin wills her love for Home Economics to Joyce Crawford.

Betha Mathis wills her cute smile to Melda Morris.

Kenneth Garrett wills his quiet and slow ways to anyone who cares to have them.

Charles Jeter wills his friendliness to James Taylor.

Paul Frets wills his position in basketball and his girl to anyone who thinks they can wear his shoes.

Bill Lyles wills his "wicked ways" to Reuben Seay.

Bob Reddick wills his ability to get through High School to Jack Calvin.

R. V. Wesley wills his muscles to Danny Donaldson.

Royce Horton wills his interest in Kennett to Leland Thrasher.

Euvila Parmenter needs everything she has but her broadness, and she wills that to Margaret Mouser. Don't get in a tight spot, Margaret.

Jim Derden wills his ability to play the piano to Loretta Wesley.

Ella McLesky wills her desire to get to the Agriculture building to Joyce Crawford. (Don't go upstairs, Joyce.)

Alfred Matheny wills his library books to Bobby Dudley.

Betty Vangilder wills her desire to ride in a gray Studebaker car to anyone who thinks they can put up with Dois hiding in the back seat.

Onis Bateman wills his shorthand transcriptions to Glory Bateman.

Kay Mays wills her ability to notice pretty shirts to Marilene Curtis.

Roy Mills wills his ability to make an "A" in English to Ronnie Crews.

Shirley Waldron wills her fifth of mid-night-oil, year before-last hookey themes, her ability to stay home sick when she ain't really. Also, the will an' way, which she hardly ever had to Piggott. All this, she wills to her faithful friend, Darrylyn Rust.

Bob Smith wills his courteous manners to Reuben Seay.

Willa Dean Stokes wills her quiet ways and her ability to get along with people to her dear friend, Glenda (Moe) Wesley.

John Brewer wills his ability to play trumpet and sit first chair in the band to Donald Hailey.

Jean McIlveene wills her quiet ways to Freeda Walker.

Bob Woods wills his happy days with the teachers to Josie Chapman.

Virginia Cox wills her "old eagle eye" in shorthand to Wilma Jeter, hoping she will not cross it.

Cecil Thomason wills his ability to hold his temper to Winnie, they want to keep it in the family.

Dorothy Page wills her flaming top-knot to the first needy woodpecker that flies by.
